

Metal edging and lever-arch file assembling lines

Automatic insertion unit of lever-arch files into their slipcasses

Technical features

This insertion unit by PERONI is the ideal link between a lever arch binder line and a slipcase forming machine (1,2, or 3 depending on customer's request).

Every station is customised according to the customer's number of slipcase production lines and space availability.

Introduction speed: 45 files/minute

